Homework 4

For the Mail Merge programs, I believe they are functioning correctly in both languages. However, I did not do much testing outside the given files, so there are most likely bugs I did not catch. For example, if the column headers in the tsv files contain characters other than alphanumeric chars and the underscore, the program will not function correctly because of the particular regular expression I am using. For the Multiset class definitions, I believe all parts are functioning correctly. I did more testing for these, though there are probably still errors I did not find. But overall I think everything works fairly well.
